

Blood Ain't Thicker Than Lies

Luke Deuce

Down in South Carolina
Where the swamp and the gators creep
The devil runs a foundry
So Keep one eye open as you sleep
No one in town dares to make a sound
Cause den is full of thieves
Bad stuff happens on a low country night
And nobody sees a thing

Chorus

*Cause blood ain't thicker than the lies
Ain't no love stronger than an alibi
You can fool the preacher but not the Lord
You can't out run the law and the court
Cause blood ain't thicker than the lies*

Trust is something that you have to buy
In this small ole country town
A handshake don't mean nothing
Unless there's money being passed around
It's where a lawyer will look you in the eye and say everything's in tact
Then stab your soul right through the heart
Just to cover his own tracks

Chorus

It don't matter what your name is
Or who you Daddy's married to Cause blood ain't thicker than lies here
And the devils got his eye on you
